Church Notes.

We understand a Catholic Church will be erected in Antioch in the Spring.

There will be preaching at the Disciple Church next Sunday, morning and evening.

Two members were received at the M. E. Church last Sabbath morning, Mr. Ellis Sabin and Mr. Delbert Sabin.

The members of the Disciple Church are endeavoring to raise funds to secure the services of Rev. Moffatt the ensuing year.

Look out for the next Demorest Medal contest which will be held in the Christain Church, Jan. 25. Eight boys between the ages of 12 and 16, are the contestants.

"The Church and the World"—a dialogue recitation, will be rendered at M. E. Church, sabbath evening. Miss Laura Williams will recite just before the sermon.

Watch night services at the M. E. Church were well attended and very helpful. The stereopticon sermon was on the subject "Hardest Work More Easily Performed Without Alcohol than With." Colored pictures were shown, illustrating many kinds of toil, which familiarized the audience with various branches of industry, while the pastor exhorted all to live a temperate, industrious, Christ-like life.

Revival services will begin at Antioch M. E. Church, Jan. 12. There will be a song service, followed by a sermon every evening of the week except Saturday. Rev. C. A. Hawn, of Iowa, will assist the pastor and Rev. E. S. Chappell, of Chicago, will come when his services are needed. New singing books have been sent for and no cost or effort will be spared which will add interest and usefulness to this series of meetings. Song service will begin at 7:30. Let those who respect or love our Savior be as actively aggressive as the forces of evil are and victory will surely come.

THAT SWAMP LAND DECISION.

Other Items of News Gleaned from a Trip to Milwaukee, Wis.

The junior of THE NEWS spent a few days in Milwaukee, the Cream City of the Badger State, and had the pleasure of meeting and talking with many of the leading people of this thriving city. Our first visit was to the law office of Quarles, Spence & Quarles, in the New Insurance Building, where we met T. W. Spence, who has charge of the Swamp Land cases for Messrs. Williams, Westlake, Savage, Smith, et al, and from him received the following in regard to Judge Upton's decision, and future action in the matter:

"In the cases of James P. Tangye against Joseph Savage et al and Edward Davis vs. Isaac Smith et al, brought in the Circuit Court of Lake County, State of Illinois a decision of considerable importance was recently made by the Court, Judge Upton presiding.

These actions were each brought by holders of so called homestead entries, or applications for homestead entries on lands for many years owned and occupied by the defendants, Joseph Savage, E. B. Williams, Isaac Smith and William Westlake.

These two cases were two out of three test cases brought by the homestead claimants for the purpose of defeating the title which the defendants claim as riparian owners under the early government patents of fractions of government sub-divisions in Town 46 North, Range 9 East.

Judgment was ordered in favor of the defendants in both of the above cases, and the third case of Duncanson vs. Smith would have been disposed of by a similar judgment, had not an order been entered by consent, giving the defendants until the next term of court to move to change their form of action and try to recover upon a new theory.

The decision of these cases effectually disposes of all actions in the Illinois Court on homestead entries, or the like, to dispossess actual occupants.

The decision in these cases does not formally dispose of the more far-reaching question of riparian ownership, but the expression of the Court from the Bench on the trial indicated that the judgments, if necessary, would have rested upon the rights of the early riparian owners of all lands within the fractional government sub-divisions.

At the coming March Term of the Court, it is expected that a trial will be had of the test equity cases brought by the Garwood heirs and [illegible] cases are disposed of, every phase of the long contest between the claimants under the earlier and later patents, will have been disposed of."

Our next call was on James C. Pond, the General Passenger Agent of the Wisconsin Central Lines, whom we found hard at work, but not too busy to make our call a pleasant one. In reply to our inquiry as to the probability of the W. C. Ry. building a direct line from Milwaukee to Antioch, Mr. Pond stated that such was not the intention of the Company; that times were too hard for any additional expense. He also stated that no radical changes in the running time of trains was contemplated, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Mr. Pond was hopeful for a better summer season for 1896, as well as a general increase in all business over last year. We trust his hopes may be realized.

We next had occasion to visit the office F. P. Smith, the genial Chief Clerk of the Railway Mail Service for the Tenth Division, to find out why it took our package of THE NEWS for Hickory, Ill., from Thursday morning of one week until the Monday afternoon of the week following to reach that office. At the latest the package should reach Hickory on Friday afternoon, but subscribers complain that it is more often received on Monday, but occasionally gets there Saturday. Mr. Smith advised us to keep tab this week and if the poor service continued to make a formal complaint and it would be investigated. Which we shall do.

A call at the office of the Goodrich Transportation Company found Secretary F. C. Reynolds and Agent Herbst busy with the affairs of this great company. Mr. Reynolds reports a prosperous business the past year, and said that the well-known steamer Menominee was being entirely rebuilt at the Manitowoc ship yard, and would, in point of elegance of equipment, speed, etc., be a companion to the other floating palaces of the company. The old reliable Goodrich Line is well-known to a large number of our readers, having plied on Lake Michigan and Green Bay for many years. The Goodrich Company never forgets a faithful employee. Superintendent Gilman sailed in the Line many years, having trod the deck of the steamer City of Ludington and others. The writer recalls many a pleasant walk with Capt. Gilman while crossing Lake Michigan. Secretary Reynolds started in as dock agent at Manistee, Mich., and Private Secretary Thorpe worked first for the Company under Mr. Reynolds, at Manistee. Agent Herbst, at Milwaukee, was promoted from a steamer clerkship. W. D. Rosey has just been appointed agent at Muskegon, Mich. He started as a clerk on the steamer Sheboygan, but was transferred to the Chicago office. Harry Kanouse now has a good berth in the Chicago office; he formerly was a clerk in the Line. All the "boys" are pleasant to meet, and a credit to the Goodrich Transportation Company.

Among others whom we called on during our short stay was the Daisy Roller Mill Co., whom we found rushed with orders for their popular brands of flour; A. B. Caspari, manager for Smith & Stoughton, fine footwear—always busy; Otto Derrwaldt, the Chestnut Street grocer; the Thomas Art Rooms, and others.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE GAYETIES OF SOCIAL LIFE ECLIPSE CONGRESS.

Some of the Season's Debutantes—The Stevenson Girls Unspoiled by Attentions—Jane Fuller, Julia Scott, Ethel Blanchard, and Others.

Washington Letter

CONGRESS will be eclipsed, in a social sense, by the interest which will center about the many young ladies who will make their first appearance this winter in the gay set at the capital. Most conspicuous among them will be the two daughters of Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson. The Stevensons live at the Normandie hotel, where they have had apartments for several years; in fact, since coming to Washington in their present political position. The Vice-President and Mrs. Stevenson have a pretty, comfortable chamber adjoining a large and handsomely furnished parlor, where the two young ladies occupy rooms above. When Mrs. Stevenson gives her receptions the parlors of the hotel are always at her service.

Perhaps there are no young ladies in town who will receive more social attention this winter or more notice in the press than the two Stevenson girls, yet to their credit it must be said they are certainly unspoiled so far by the constant attention which their movements attract. They are both simple and perfectly natural in manner, totally devoid of affectation, and they dislike anything that brings them conspicuously into public notice. Mrs. Stevenson, recognizing the fact that her husband's position demands a constant sacrifice on her part, is most kind to all who approach her and her motherly heart seems to invite the confidence of those she meets. It is not an easy position to fill, for there are numberless calls on her time. Still it is yet to be said that she has failed in a single instance to help her husband in every sense of the word, or that anyone made a demand on her time that she did not cheerfully accord.

Among the other debutantes of the season will be Miss Jane Fuller, the youngest daughter of the chief justice, and if the health of her mother permits, she will make her first appearance in society known in a few days. Miss Fuller inherits the good looks that have also fallen to the lot of her sisters. She is expert on the wheel and spends much of her time out of doors.

Miss Julia Scott, daughter of Mrs. Scott, who is a sister of Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, is one of the buds of the season, so that in one family there will be three young ladies on the carpet at the same time. Mrs. Scott has taken the home of Mr. Fairchild Carpenter and is expected to entertain a great deal during the season, as she has one daughter already in society and her other one is ready to appear about New Year's. At present the family expect that Miss Julia Scott, who is now in Paris, to reach town by the 12th of this month. The Scott mansion is beautifully furnished in exquisite taste, and is situated in a fashionable neighborhood. The Miss Scott already introduced is named Letitia, so that there are two

JULIA SCOTT.

Julias and two Letitias in the Scott and Stevenson families.

The daughter of the rich congressman, Francis G. Newlands, will also make her first appearance in society. So will Miss Ethel Blanchard, daughter of the senator from Louisiana, and Miss Margaret Gana, daughter of the minister from Chili. Miss Ethel Blanchard is very dark, almost a Spaniard in her brunette beauty. She has a slender figure, black hair with a natural curl, dark eyes and a clear complexion. She is a very intellectual girl and devoted to study, spending most of her time at her books. Mrs. Senator Blanchard has a remarkable talent for composition, and it is from her mother that Miss Ethel inherits her fondness for literature. As this will be her first winter in society and she is the only child in the family, she expected to create quite a sensation among the younger set.

Miss Gana, the daughter of Senor Domingo Gana, is a slight blonde with timid ways and a girlish figure. She does not appear to be more than 16, but is the oldest girl, having five brothers and sisters. Her mother is a beautiful brunette with charming manners. The Ganas have recently moved into a new home in the same row as that in which are the residences of Attorney-General Harmon and Senator Sherman.

Speaker Reed's wife and daughter are with him at the Shoreham, and they have a pretty suite of rooms on the eighth floor. Mrs Reed is a sweet-looking blonde, very school-girlish in appearance, and is the especial pet of her father. Mrs. Reed leads a quiet life, going but seldom in society, but she is very proud of her distinguished husband. Crowds of visitors pour in upon the Reeds all day, but as she has been in town only a few days, Mrs. Reed has not been able to see anyone.

Minister Hatch, from Hawaii, expects to go to housekeeping next month, as his wife is much averse to boarding. There are two children in the family, Harriet, a golden-haired girl of 7, and Gilchrist, a dark-eyed, brown-haired boy of 3. Since their arrival, the Hatches have been stopping at the Richmond hotel. Mrs. Hatch was a Miss Alice Hawes, of San Francisco, where she was born and educated. She is a young woman with plenty of good looks, a plump figure and easy manners. Mr. Hatch is a native of Portsmouth, Mass., and has been for years a prominent lawyer in Honolulu. Mrs. Hatch seems to think that there is no danger of the present form of government being overturned, and that the republic is rooted on a permanent basis. She has often dined with the former queen, who is an intelligent woman, but is not likely to regain her throne. As the greater part of the population is white, Honolulu is a delightful place in a social sense, and the number of vessels always in port makes the town resemble a naval post. Mrs. Hatch likes society, and her home will be one of the most attractive in town. But her tastes are more in the domestic than in the literary line.

Mrs. Thurston, wife of the senator from Nebraska, is living at the Arlington, as the children were left in the home in Omaha. The senator has three children, two girls and a boy, Clarence, who is 15. The lad is somewhat of a prodigy, and will this year compete a course far advanced enough enough to allow of his going to Harvard for the next term. He is a fine-looking boy, and his remarkable studiousness places him at the head of many literary societies in which he is interested. The two little girls are taught at home.

Mrs. Thurston is a motherly-looking woman with a low, gentle voice and a kindly manner. She is an earnest thinker on the subjects of the day, and is opposed to woman's suffrage on the grounds that, if the thing were fully carried out, many women would be obliged to serve on mixed juries, often to their great discomfort. Then, again, she says, as no woman would join the army, it is hardly fair that they should have a voice in the government, when they cannot support it by their arms. Mrs. Thurston takes a great interest in the political life of her husband, and has accompanied him for years in all of his campaignings. The Thurstons have a lovely home in Omaha, and did not break it up, as the boy had to be left there to finish his school term.

The report that Senator Wetmore, of Rhode Island, was to take the Morton house is not true, for his family are settling in the house on Vermont avenue, 1014, which he has taken for the season. In speaking of the cost of keeping up a fine establishment in town here, Governor Morton once told a friend that the expense which his house brought him each year was $15,000 for every winter he spent at the capital. The Morton home is still empty, and as it requires a large fortune to keep it up in proper shape, it is not likely to be rented during this season.

All mundane events are the results of the operation of law. Every movement in the skies or upon the earth proclaims to us that the universe is under government.—J. W. Draper.

FREE SPEECH IS DEAD.

GREAT GERMAN EMPIRE IN THE THROES OF STRIFE.

Imperialism Said to Be Resting on a Volcano—Cheers for the French Republic in the Streets of Berlin—Leagued Oppression.

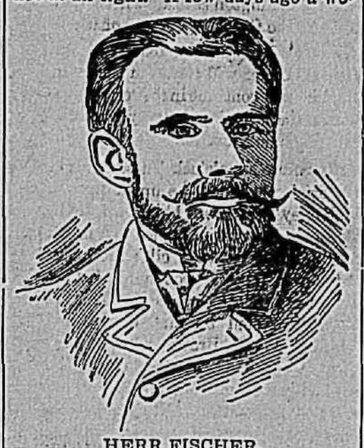

Berlin Letter.

THE EMPEROR has peremptorily dismissed from his cabinet Herr Von Koeller, minister of the interior. This action was taken immediately after the opening of the reichstag recently. His majesty expressed himself as greatly displeased with the unwarranted severity that Koeller had exercised in reference to the labor leaders. Previous for his departure for Breslau the emperor caused Herr Von Lucanus, chief of the civil cabinet, to make a special report in the case of Professor Delbruech, whom Koeller caused to be imprisoned for making a mild statement referring to the internal politics of the empire, and criticising the wholesale prosecution of the social democrats. His majesty afterward conferred with Prince Hohenlohe, the chancellor, and the latter is said to have informed the emperor that he would be compelled to tender his resignation unless Von Koeller was dismissed. Thus the "people" have won a decisive victory and the social democrats are stronger than ever.

A deep shadow of disquietude hangs over the German empire. The most conservative and impartial men of all classes freely admit that an upheaval such as Germany has never seen is near at hand. There is not a newspaper or other publication but what echoes this sentiment, with the added interrogatory: "What will be the issue?" The reason for all this agitation is to be found in the stand Emperor William has taken relative to the laboring classes as represented by the socialistic democratic party. So long as these people and the proletariat in general bowed down to his majesty and acknowledged his superiority as a mortal and his infallibility in the judgment of everything all went well. They must be subservient to the dictatorial arrogance of military power. The right of free speech is no longer recognized, and a really free press does not exist. They have stamped the sign of intolerance upon the present administration of government affairs. The emperor has become exceedingly thin-skinned of late, and the prosecution for lese-majeste (high treason) has become an epidemic.

During the last month forty men were arrested for speaking contemptuously of the emperor, and 200,000 copies of newspapers were seized and destroyed because they were supposed to contain disrespectful allusions to his majesty. Some of the radical newspapers have devoted special half columns to such proceedings, and given them the half cynical head: "Our Daily Lese-Majeste Bulletin." There is not a day passes but two or three are arrested and as many convicted, while the confiscation of revolutionary editorial matter, anarchist poems and free-thinking pamphlets are so numerous that it is impossible to report fully. The sentences are not at all light. A few days ago a workingman by the name of Frost was sentenced for two years because he made a similar remark emphasized with an oath. Editor Reichet and Printer Landgraf of Burgstadt, Saxony, have been arrested for slurring the emperor in a little social democratic weekly which they published. Henry Mackey's pamphlet poem, "The Anarchists," has been exterminated in Berlin by order of the chief of police.

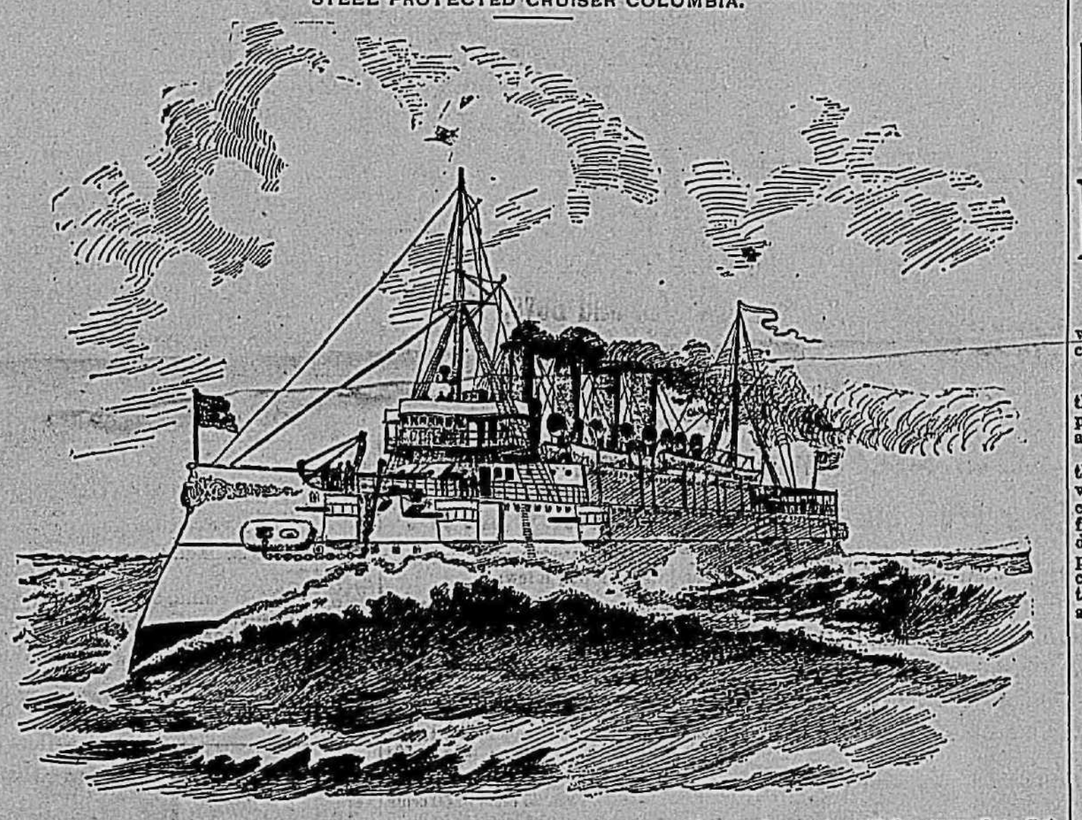

HERR FISCHER.

Dr. Barth says the people will insult the emperor with ever increasing frequency as long as these prosecutions and persecutions are kept up, and adds that the history of the empire proves it. For instance, in 1876, when the social democrats had free hand, there were but 181 charges of lese-majeste, and in 1877 but 200, while in 1878, when Bismarck began to threaten and punish the socialists systematically, the number jumped to 2,000. Barth says it is German nature to want to do most the very thing that is forbidden by law and the cabinet, and the emperor can get himself insulted in print and by word of mouth fifty times a day if he only has the crown lawyers harry his subjects persistently enough.

The conservatives who are egging on the emperor and Herr Von Koeller, minister of the interior, to these prosecutions, wish to keep up the crusade, even if it land in prison 10,000 a year. The Leipsic Gazette says:

"We, for our part, wish to see all social democratic leaders banished from the country, their whole press exterminated, all their societies broken up, and all their meetings forbidden." To this the radical daily, the Tageblatt, replies with the question: "Why should we be so severe with socialist agitators and let the high-tariff tories, who denounce the throne, go scot-free? Why should the police drag a social democratic editor from his bed for some trivial offense, while a Baron Hammerstein, who has embezzled nearly 1,000,000 marks, is allowed to walk out of Berlin in broad daylight?"

STEEL PROTECTED CRUISER COLUMBIA.

HERR SINGER.

simply humored his vanity, and so long as he did not seriously interfere with them the social democrats were very tractable subjects, indeed. During the past six or seven months, however, the emperor has taken upon himself to virtually dictate to the labor leaders what they ought and what they ought not to do. From first grumbling at this unwarranted interference, the matter has now culminated in a breach that has taken on very alarming proportions.

The vast masses of the people proper—that is to say, the laboring classes, as well as the small farmers and farm hands, together with the host of such as are directly dependent for their subsistence upon these classes—are intensely dissatisfied with the existing conditions in the empire. BURKE & STORMS,

For President of the United States, (1896)
HON. WILLIAM McKINLEY,

For Governor of Illinois, (1896)

J. J. BURKE, EDITOR.

A. H. STORMS, NEWS AND LOCAL EDITOR.

ALL lovers of martial music and patriotic citizens everywhere, will heartily join with the G. A. R., in their protest against the abolition of the fife and drum, by a series of orders of the military department of the United States. The learned theorists, who are responsible for this order, who have never smelled real powder, or heard the deadly zip of the minie ball, have little realization of the soul stirring melody of the fife and drum, as dear to the hearts of the old soldiers as the stars on our National emblem. Let arbitration take the place of war, but in field music nothing can take the place of the fife and drum, in the hearts of the American people. It inspired our forefathers at Bunker Hill, cheered the starving forces at Valley Forge, lead the Union arms to victory at the fierce and terrible battle of Gettysburg and accompanied Sherman on his memorable march from Atlanta to the Sea. It always has been a part of our military equipment, and, like time-honored institutions, should remain.

AN exchange remarks that "Grover Cleveland will pass into history as the President that has killed the most ducks and disappointed the most democrats." To this array it might add that he has killed the most business enterprises and piled up the greatest National debt of any President in the time of peace. The shadow of Grover Cleveland, and the ruinous financial policy of the Democratic party has hung like a funeral pall over the nation, paryalizing industry and blocking the wheels of commerce—yes, President Cleveland and his party have made history, and the sooner they pass into it, the better for the nation.

IT may be of interest to some of the old veterans to know that the Chicago pension office presided over by General Anderson, has on its rolls some 74,000 pensioners, scattered over all parts of the United States. Each quarter the Chicago department pays out $2,500,000. There are over 15,000 widows' pensions paid at this department, and only three persons out of the entire number of pensioners who receive as high as $100 per month

THE enormous bond issue of $100,000,000 may denote national prosperity, but in the ordinary commercial pursuits, when the plant has to be mortgaged to pay running expenses, it denotes bad business management, and nations differ but little from individuals; and, in a time of peace, when the income falls short of the current expense it is evident to the casual observer that there is a screw loose somewhere.

BY the admission of Utah, to Statehood, last Saturday, another star has been added to the crown of "Old Glory." Canada and the North-West provinces are large enough to furnish a number of stars which would look well on our National emblem, and ought to belong there.

THE Inter-Ocean thinks the Republican party is back of the Tanner boom for Governor—well, hardly the entire party, as many—in fact all Republicans in this section have their shoulder to the A. J. Hopkins boom for Governor.

DURING the year just closed, Chicago has made the unenviable record of 118 murders. Whisky and jealousy caused the most of them.

There were sixteen accessions and four baptisms at the M. E. Church Sunday.

The members of the Trilby Club expect to give a grand masquerade ball in a week or two.

A few days ago Judge F. E. Clarke of our city received from a friend at Puget Sound, a wonderfully large trout.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grice, on Grand Avenue, was the scene of a pleasant party Saturday night. Dancing, cards and a handsomely prepared repast were the pleasant pastimes indulged in by the merry company. The Misses Ida, Cora and Bertha Wedge, of Millburn, were present.

The girders at the Genesee Street bridge are being put in place.

Lizzie E. Burke, of Highwood, was found insane Monday afternoon in county court.

President Blowney, of the Wheelmen's Club, entertained the directors of the club and a few friends at supper at the club house.

At a meeting of the Security Savings Bank stock holders Monday afternoon, 559 shares were voted. The same directors and officers were re-elected.

The directors' meeting of the Brake Beam Co. Monday meant more than an inspection. It is practically decided that two factories, one from St Louis and one from Detroit, presumable to manufacture railway supplies, will be located here in conjunction with the beam works, giving employment to 150 men. This is settled.

Vincent L. Reed died Monday at the home of Mrs. Sarah Strong, 219 Williams Street, aged sixty-nine years. The deceased was an old settler and was well known to the older residents,

It is reported that Miss Elsie Stephens, who has been sick for a long time, is still very low.

Dow's planing mill starts up Monday, after a shut down of one week, a large amount of orders having just come in.

The German Workingmen's Society are arranging to give a masquerade ball at the Opera House the latter part of this month.

The Waukegan Wheelmen will give an entertainment this (Thursday) night at Perrin's hall, consisting of a musical program, followed by dancing. Entertainments will be given quite frequently in the future by the club, and some excellent affairs may be looked for.

The Aschuler Wrapper factory is doing a good and increasing business this winter. He employs about forty persons and this number will be considerably increased very soon. The increasing orders that have come in for their lines of goods has compelled putting in additional machinery and additional cutters and the force will be increased correspondingly.

The regular business meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Friday at the Temple and was one of interest. Mrs. Charity Raught led the devotional exercises. The report of the District Conference recently held at Ravenswood was given by Mrs. Just. She reported a fine meeting, the principal address being by Miss Downey, Ill. State Evangelist. Mrs. F. H. Smith was elected secretary of the union, the former secretary having resigned.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Miltimore was recently enlivened by the advent of a son.

Thursday night thieves entered the chicken coop of Ned Ludlum's on East Water Street and took seven chickens.

New cases of scarlet fever have appeared at the home of Sam Pierson, 342 South Street, and at Mr. Harris', 407 Oak Street.

The office of County Superintendent of Schools was moved from its old quarters to the basement of the Court House. The entrance to the new office is on the north side of the building.

For the first time Chris Hollstein, who was one of the victims of the Starch Works explosion, was out Thursday. His hands are scarred a little but otherwise he has about recovered.

The net receipts from the Charity Ball are larger than were at first supposed, the Ladies Hospital Association finding after all tickets had been called in. and through a few donations to the same end, that they have about $70 to their credit.

Thursday night an overturned lamp caused a lively blaze in the residence at 116 South Utica Street, owned by Mrs. J. Highland and occupied by Mrs. Edwin Chapman. The damage to the building is not great, the damage by the dense smoke constituting the greater part.

Quite a horse race took place on Genesee Street last week between Herbert Doolittle's pacer and F. J. Dietmeyer's trotter. The pacer was a little the faster.

Thomas Dugdale, who resides on the Dugdale road, southwest of this city, had the misfortune to fall and dislocate his knee cap. Dr. Foley attended and he is reported as getting along nicely.

Last Wednesday Wm. S. Price, of Gurnee, and Bertha E. Lewis, of Chicago, were united in marriage by Rev. J. N. Lester, pastor of the Christian Church, at 2. p. m., at his residence on Hickory Street. The happy couple left for Chicago on one of the early evening trains, where they will spend a short honey moon, after which they will live on Mr. Price's farm west of Gurnee.

Wednesday at 5:30 o'clock, in St. Patrick's church at Rosecrans, there occurred a pretty double wedding, at which Rev. Father Bruton, pastor of the church officiated. The contracting parties were John Haarbauer and Miss Lizzie Hogan, and James F. O'Connor and Miss Mary E. Hogan. The first were attended by Mr. Fred Haarbauer and Miss Tessie Haarbauer, brother and sister of the groom, while the latter were accompanied by Mr. Law Turner and Miss Tessie O'Conner. Those present from Waukegan were the Misses O'Conner, Miss Carrie Jackson, Mrs. Frank Bidinger, Miss Annie Krueger, Miss Tessie Haarbaur, Miss Mary Haarbaur, Miss Hattie Wells, Miss Lylia Shea, Mr. Law Turner, Mr. Fred Haarbauer, and from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Noonan. The newly married are well known and highly esteemed young people and hosts of friends will unite in wishing them great happiness. Mr. Haarbauer and wife will reside on Washington Street, where they will conduct the City Restaurant, of which establishment he was the founder. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor will reside on the south side, and he will continue in the responsible position in the Manning tannery which he has held for some time.

Shortly before six o'clock Tuesday night an oil stove exploded on the upper floor of W. P. Higley's tenement house, on Madison Street, in the part occupied by L. R. Graves, and the burning oil which flew about the room quickly communicated the flames to bedding and furniture. The fire was soon discovered by Mrs. Graves and she alarmed W. D Brown, whose family lives in the west half of the tenement. Mr. Brown had just risen from a sick-bed, but he promptly responded and by quick and efficient effort succeeded in quenching the worst of the fire before the arrival of the department which was soon at hand. Mr. Brown was nearly overcome by the dense smoke that filled the apartment, but got out safely after throwing water on the flames. The damage to the building was not great, being chiefly the discoloration of the walls and the broken windows, which were forced out in order to relieve the men who completed the work of extinguishing the flames, from suffocation. The greatest damage was sustained by Mr. Graves, as about all the furniture in that part of the house was ruined. His loss is, however, covered by insurance.

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH

LATER EXCESSES IN MANHOOD

MAKE NERVOUS, DISEASED MEN

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body induced by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousands of promising young men. Some fade and wither at an early age, at the blossom of manhood, while others are forced to drag out a weary, fruitless and melancholy existence. Others reach matrimony but find no solace or comfort there. The victims are found in all stations of life:—The farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions.

Wm. A. Walker of 16th Street says:—"I have suffered untold agonies for my "gay life." I was indiscreet when young and ignorant. As "One of the Boys" I contracted Syphilis and other Private diseases. I had ulcers in the mouth and throat, bone pains, hair loose, pimples on face, finger nails came off, emissions, became thin and despondent. Seven doctors treated me with Mercury, Potash, etc. They helped me but could not cure me. Finally a friend induced me to try Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. Their New Method Treatment cured me in a few weeks. Their treatment is wonderful. You feel yourself gaining every day. I have never heard of their failing to cure in a single case."

"Gems of Religious Thought."

By Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage.

GREATEST SELLING BOOK PUBLISHED.

Talmage needs no introduction to readers in any land. He is loved by the millions whose hearts he has touched by his sympathetic words and stirring sermons and writings, which have been published and scattered broadcast over the entire world. In this volume there are the best things from his best efforts, and these make a book of intense interest and greatest value. Many write: "It is worth its weight in gold." There is not a dry page in it. It is a work which is welcome in every home, and it is worth many times its price.

WHAT OUR AGENTS HAVE TO SAY:

We hear favorable reports from our school. The advantages now offered are superior to what are usually found in a country town. We regret that certain children are seen upon the street and elsewhere, who ought to be at school. Parents who care nothing for the education of their children should be compelled to observe the law at least.

The M. W. A. of Grayslake held their public installation as announced last week. The hall was filled by an interested audience. After the ceremonies, which were conducted with dignity by Mr. Pettis of Prairie View, a bright little entertainment was given, a feature of which was the reciting of two numbers by Mr. Woodman, also of Prairie View. Later supper was served at Hotel Austin.

CHAPTER VII.

THE COLONEL informed his sister-in-law the same evening of the success of his expedition to Limehouse. He described his interview with Johnstone at some length, and with a good deal of dramatic skill.

"Then you entrapped the man rather than persuaded him?" she asked.

"I certainly did not intrust him with our secret," he replied. "That can be easily explained at any time before we reach St. Helena."

"And you have no fear that he will draw back when he finds out the real nature of the service required from him?"

"He's not that kind of man. Besides, whatever he may be, let me once get him on board, and I'll answer for his going through with the affair."

Camilla looked as if this remark was less unexpected than unwelcome.

"With—with any one else," she said, "whom you might wish to engage in a higher capacity, you would of course proceed openly?"

The colonel saw the point of this question at once, and felt himself in a difficulty. He had as yet come to no definite idea of how Dick was to be gained; he glanced at his sister-in-law and saw an indignant resolve foreshadowed on her face. If he hesitated he was lost; she would resume her right of interference, and warn Estcourt.

All this flashed through his mind in an instant.

"Let us be quite candid with one another," he said. "If you will promise to leave me a free hand, I will undertake to write a plain, straightforward letter to Captain Estcourt, simply setting out our design, and asking him to join us."

"Very well," she said, coldly.

"You promise, then?" he asked.

"Of course," she said; "but in any case he needs no warning against an open attempt."

consider the matter more attentively in the diplomatic atmosphere of his own room.

During the next few days nothing more was heard of the subject. Dick called several times, and the colonel noted with satisfaction his growing intimacy with Camilla.

The end of the week—the last before the start—was now drawing near. The time had come for the colonel to spread his net, and he was ready in his place, waiting only for the favorable moment.

It was not long delayed. On the Friday afternoon Camilla asked him whether he expected to be much occupied on the following day.

"No," he replied; "I have no engagement whatever."

"I am told," she said, "that there are some fine Claudes and Watteaus at No. 9 Great Russell Street. The house is to be let furnished, and they allow one to walk in and see the pictures."

He bowed, to hide the cat-like eagerness of his eyes.

"I thought," she continued, "that it would be an agreeable way of passing the morning; and if you can come too, we might invite Captain Estcourt to accompany us. He said something about calling, and there's nothing to amuse him here. Then will you invite him?" she asked, after a pause.

"With pleasure," said the colonel, in his most formal and indifferent tone; and the subject dropped.

After dinner the same evening he appeared in the drawing room with a sheet of paper in his hand.

"This," he said, holding it out to Camilla, "is a rough draft of the letter I propose writing to Estcourt, in accordance with our agreement of a few days ago."

She took it and read as follows:

"My Dear Captain Estcourt: My sister-in-law and I have more than once hinted to you how deeply we are devoted to the service of the Emperor Napoleon, and how cruelly we have felt his exile. A favorable opportunity has now presented itself for attempting his liberation, and we are to start almost immediately for our base of operations. From what you have already told us of your views on his majesty's imprisonment, and from the cordial and intimate friendship with which you have honored us, I am induced to hope that you will give us your loyal assistance in this expedition. If we may rely on you for this important service, will you be good enough to meet us at the time and place mentioned below, when I shall have the pleasure of introducing to you M. Carnac and M. le Comte de Rabodanges, two of our most trusted confederates. In case, however, you should unhappily feel unable to join us, may I ask you to destroy this letter at once, and not refer to it again? We shall understand your silence as a refusal."

She weighed every phase and every word with painful care, then tossed the paper back to him without comment.

"That meets with your approval, then?" he asked.

"On the contrary," she replied, "the whole thing is a folly, and meets with my disapproval; but if a letter must go, by all means let that be the form of it."

"You think it well calculated to achieve its object?" asked the colonel, with a pretense of anxiety.

She laughed sarcastically. He put on a look of dismay and disappointment.

"If you think it will fail," he said, "perhaps it would be better not to do it by writing at all."

Camilla smiled, but made no answer beyond a shrug of indifference.

"I might put it to him in words of the same plain fashion," he suggested, "I have made an appointment with him for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, at Great Russell street; at least, I left a verbal message asking him to meet us, and I've no doubt that he'll be there."

She looked up as though she did not quite follow him.

"I could ask Carnac and Rabodanges to come too," he explained, "and then take the opportunity to bring the scheme before him while we are all together."

She was upon the point of vehemently rejecting this proposal, but two considerations made her pause. She could not but long to witness such a scene as the confused route of her brother-in-law and his allies, and she foresaw, in the second place, that she might be able, if present at the interview, to show Dick afterward that so shameful a proposal had not been made to him by any wish of hers.

At 10 the next morning the colonel slipped from the house unobserved, and by 10:30 he was posted at the northern end of the street in which Dick was lodging; his eyes were fixed on the door of the latter's house, but he kept himself completely out of sight.

He had not been watching three minutes when the door opened, Dick came out, and turned down the street in the opposite direction.

"I thought he'd be early," murmured the colonel to himself; "and I don't think there's much fear of his coming back!"

He waited until his unconscious quarry had disappeared round the southern corner, and then hastened to the house. He rang the bell and a servant appeared.

"Is Captain Estcourt in?"

"No, sir; he's just gone out."

"Do you suppose he'll be long?"

"I shouldn't think so, sir; but he didn't say."

The colonel looked troubled.

"Will you leave your name, sir?" inquired the maid.

"I think," replied the visitor, "that I had better go to Captain Estcourt's room and write a note for him. My business is rather important, and I can't very well call again."

The girl opened the door wider and showed him upstairs; placed paper and ink before him, and waited by the door. The colonel wrote an exact copy of the [illegible] shown to Camilla, only 9 Great Russell street," and "11 o'clock on Saturday morning, March 24th," as the time. Then he asked for sealing-wax and a taper, fastened up the letter with elaborate care, and handed it to the attendant maid. She placed it on the mantelpiece and went toward the door to show him down the stairs out of the house. He followed her down a few steps, and then stopped, with an exclamation. "I have left my gloves behind!" and he ran back before she could offer to go for him. He returned in an instant, but in that instant he had broken the newly made seal, opened the letter, folded it simply without fastening, and tossed it carelessly down again upon the mantel-piece.

"Be sure," he said, as he passed out, "that Captain Estcourt reads my note directly he comes home. I think you said that would not be long?"

"No, sir, not long, I expect." And she closed the door behind him.

He hurried to his own house, to find Camilla waiting for him and the carriage at the door.

"We are late," she said; "it is just upon 11 now."

"I am sorry," he replied; "I have been round to Estcourt's rooms; he might as well have driven down with us; but he was not in, and I could not wait any longer."

She made no further remark, and they started at once. On arriving at the house they found Dick upon the doorstep. Camilla, who was dreading the decisive moment more and more, took comfort at the sight of his open smile and frank eyes, and unconsciously put more warmth than usual into her welcome. The colonel, too, greeted him with effusive cordiality, and seemed to take his presence as a personal favor.

"We are so very glad," he said, as they entered the house together, "that you have been able to join us. I thought you would myself, and, indeed, I said so to Madame de Montaut, but she seemed uncertain about it."

"How could you doubt it?" said Dick, turning to Camilla, with tender reproach. And he added, lowering his voice: "Surely you know that I would give up anything to go with you anywhere?"

The colonel laughed softly to himself, and examined a picture with great attention. The other two passed into the dining room. He did not follow them, but stayed behind to receive MM. Carnac and Rabodanges, whom he was momently expecting.

Dick was in his happiest mood, and if he did not care much about the pictures, at any rate he thoroughly enjoyed the privilege of looking at them. He noted, with a lover's keenness, that Camilla's manner to him was changed and seemed to imply a new kind of relationship between them. What it meant he could not even guess, but certainly she was now quite a different being from the imperious beauty, whose wit had stricken him dumb on the night of the ball so long ago. She had a wistful look in her eyes, as though she would have asked something of him if she dared, and her air was almost that of one who clings to some one stronger for protection or support.

He was raised out of his natural diffidence by this delicate, unspoken flattery, and set high on a pinnacle of exalted hope, from which he now and again shot swift glances far into a gleaming future.

And all the time, in the room beneath, the colonel was relentlessly planning his downfall.

For no sooner had Dick and Camilla passed upstairs into the drawing room, which contained the more valuable paintings, than M. Carnac and the count arrived almost together.

The colonel took them into the dining room and closed the door.

"You will remember," he said, "our last meeting, and the resolutions then arrived at."

They bowed.

"I am happy," he continued, "to be able to report that my efforts have been crowned with complete success, I have engaged a daring and competent seaman to work my submarine boat, and I have secured an officer to command our vessel who is personally known to and esteemed by the admiral commanding at St. Helena."

M. Carnac looked flustered; this news had quite taken away the poor old gentleman's breath. But the count was enthusiastic, and warmly congratulated the colonel, plying him with strings of eager questions. M. de Montaut stopped him with a smile.

"Not so fast, my friend," he said; "the gentleman is in the house at this moment, and I shall have the pleasure of presenting him to you immediately. Of one thing, however," he continued, "I must warn you beforehand. He has given, so far, no more than a tacit assent to my invitation to join us, and it will therefore be as well to make no reference to the matter at present, beyond, of course, giving a cordial greeting to so invaluable an accomplice."

M. Carnac started; the word "accomplice" appeared to disagree with him unpleasantly. But both he and the count acquiesced, and M. de Montaut led them upstairs. Their voices, as they approached, startled Dick and Camilla in their seclusion, and the faces of both clouded at once.

"This is too bad!" he exclaimed, impatiently.

She looked troubled, and said in an anxious and deprecating tone: "It is only some friends whom we asked to meet us here."

"Oh!" he replied, "that's all right; your friends are mine." And the three gentlemen entered.

The formal introduction took place, and Camilla, seeing the dreaded ordeal close at hand, felt as though she must flee, or fall where she stood.

Her evident nervousness touched Dick, who naturally enough thought himself the cause of it. "She's afraid I resent their interruption," he said to himself; "I'll soon put that straight."

So he replied to the compliments of the two strangers with a cordiality even more marked than their own. "I look forward," he said, "to our becoming the best of friends. I hope you will always command me for any service in my power."

Camilla's heart failed her; the words seemed like an evil omen.

A sound like a chuckle was heard from the colonel.

"What are you laughing at?" Dick asked.

"Nothing," he replied; "but I am vastly pleased with this Claude. 'The Embarkation of St. Helena,' I believe it is called."

Camilla turned deadly white.

"I am unwell; my head aches," she said. "Let us go home."

from the room.

A Wonderful Organ.

The electric organ has been developed into a marvelous instrument. Its distinguishing feature is that by using the "console," a keyboard on a movable stand, the organ can be played from any point, or several organs can be played at the same moment, and by the same touch of the keys. So that, if the service of half a dozen or more churches could be so timed as to exactly correspond in the length of the respective parts of their ritual, one organist would suffice for them all. He would sit at the keyboard and perform his offertory, anthem, or hymn, as the case might be, and the pressure on the keys would make the electric contact, which would open the pneumatic valves in the pipes of all the instruments connected up by wires. The largest organ is controlled electrically with a simplicity, ease and and absolute command of all its resources that is simply astounding. The organist touches a button, and the electric motors start the blowers, which are operated automatically, and which will continue to supply all the wind needed until they are stopped. At one time, organ playing was apt to be an exhausting gymnastic exercise, now the player actuates any or all of the stops by "stop keys," little ivory levers just over the keyboard, which are moved by a light touch of the finger, even without raising the hand from the keys. Heretofore, the organ had had its limitations of touch effects; the latest electric organ has what is termed a "double touch," an action of the keys which is so quick and elastic that pianoforte music can be played by it effectively and so delicate that it is capable of the finest "expression." The wires connecting the keyboard with the organ are run in a cable, and 2,000 are held in a conductor of 1½ inches diameter.

Could Not Make Thibet.

Mr. Wilson relates an amusing story of an officer who determined to enter Chinese Thibet by stratagem. This officer managed to cross the frontier at night and so escaped the frontier guard. Next day, however, while he was journeying deeper into Thibet, the Thibetan soldiers overtook him and informed him that, as the country was unsafe because of robbers, they would go with him in order to protect him, to which arrangement the traveler was compelled to agree. In a few hours they came to a river, which was crossed by a rope bridge. The Thibetans passed over first, in order to show that the bridge was safe, and then the officer got into the basket and was pulled along by the Thibetans. Suddenly, however, they ceased pulling and left the Englishman hanging in midair above the rushing torrent.

In vain the traveler shouted to the Thibetans to pull; they merely smoked and nodded their heads. The hours passed and still the officer hung above the torrent. At last the Thibetans agreed to pull him back if he would promise to leave Thibet immediately. This, of course, he was compelled to do and took his departure from the forbidden land.—Gentleman's Magazine.

CARLISLE'S CIRCULAR.

BOND ISSUE READY FOR THE PEOPLE.

Government of the United States Will Sell $100,000,000 Worth of Securities —The Loan a "Popular" One—Text of the Circular.

Speculation concerning the amount and character of the new bond issues was set at rest Sunday When Secretary Carlisle made public a circular on the subject.

The loan will be a "popular" one and the circular, which is dated Jan. 6, gives notice that the government will sell $100,000,000 thirty-year 4 per cent coupon or registered bonds, dated Feb. 1, 1895, for which purchasers will be required to pay in gold coin or gold certificates.

This is the first issue of the present administration of such a large amount of bonds at one time, all the previous issues having been for $50,000,000 each. The circular also contains an intimation of a possible further issue of bonds should the issue or sale of an additional or different form of bond for maintenance of the gold reserve be authorized by the law before Feb. 5.

The fact that the bonds will be issued in sums of $50 and multiples thereof and be payable in installments is a feature which it is believed will make them regarded with popular favor. The main reason for dating the bonds a year back is said to be in order to give the public a better opportunity to judge their market value by comparing them with the gold 4s issued at that time, so that their bids can be made to conform with the market value of those bonds on the 1st of February.

The circular is as follows:

"Treasury Department, Office of the Secretary. Washington, Jan. 6, 1896.—Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the office of the secretary of the treasury at Washington, D. C., until 12 o'clock m., on Wednesday, the 5th day of February, 1896, for the purchase of one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) of United States four per cent coupon, or registered bonds, in denominations of fifty dollars ($50) and multiples of that sum, as may be desired by bidders. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved.

"The bonds will be dated on the 1st day of February, 1895, and be payable in coin, thirty years after date, and will bear interest at 4 per cent per annum, payable quarterly, in coin, but all coupons maturing on and before the 1st day of February, 1896, will be detached, and purchasers will be required to pay in United States gold coin, or gold certificates, for the bonds awarded to them, and all interest accrued thereon after the 1st day of February, 1896, up to the time of application for delivery.

"Payments for the bonds must be made at the treasury of the United States at Washington, D. C., or at the United States sub-treasuries at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, or New Orleans, or they may be made at San Francisco with exchange on New York, and all bids must state what denominations of bonds are desired, and whether coupon or registered, and at what place they will be paid for.

"Payments may be made by installments, as follows: Twenty (20) per cent upon receipt of notice of acceptance of bids, and twenty per cent (20) at the end of each ten days thereafter; but all accepted bidders may pay the whole amount at the date of the first installment, and those who have paid all the installments previously maturing may pay the whole amount of their bids at any time, not later than the maturity of the first installment.

"The bonds will be ready for delivery on or before the 15th day of February, 1896.

"Notice is further hereby given that if the issue and sale of an additional or different form of bond for the maintenance of the gold reserve shall be authorized by law before the 15th day of February, 1896, sealed proposals for the purchase of such bonds will also be received at the same time and place, and up to the same date, and upon the same terms and conditions herein set forth, and such bids will be considered as well as the bids for the 4 per cent bonds herein named.

"J. G. CARLISLE,
"Secretary of the Treasury."

KRUEGER'S OPINION.

President of Transvaal Republic Has Lost Faith in Premier Rhodes.

Cape Town, Jan. 6.—It is reported that the Hon. Cecil Rhodes, premier of Cape Colony, has resigned, but Gov. Sir Hercules Robinson has declined to accept the resignation.

Colonial Secretary Chamberlain has telegraphed asking if it were true that Dr. Jameson was shot, adding that Mr. Rhodes had telegraphed a positive denial of the rumored gathering of a second force of the Chartered South Africa company's troops at Buluwayo. President Krueger has replied that he had given no orders to shoot freebooters who had been taken prisoners, but that they would be punished according to law. He said that they had been treated with the greatest consideration by the burghers, despite the fact that the latter had more than once been forced to take up arms in defense of the republic.

President Krueger adds: "Our confidence in Mr. Rhodes has received such a rude shock that his repudiation of the proceedings at Buluwayo ought to be received with the greatest caution. Even now we have news that an armed force is collecting on our borders. If it be true, I trust that not the word of Mr. Rhodes but the influence of your government will suffice to prevent the further incursions of freebooters, although it was not successful in arresting the advance of Dr. Jameson."

THE VENEZUELAN COMISSION.

Secretary Chamberlain in his reply thanked President Krueger for his assurances and adds that he had always felt confidence in his magnanimity. He had sent an imperial officer, he said, to Buluwayo to see that his orders were observed and to prevent the possibility of any further raids, and assuring President Krueger that he might rest confident that he would strictly uphold the regulations of the convention of 1884.

BRAKE WOULD NOT WORK.

Freight Train Crashes Into an Electric Car at Elwood, Ind.

Elwood, Ind., Jan. 6.—A frightful collision occurred in this city last evening at 4 o'clock at the crossing of the Lake Erie and Western Railway and the electric street car lines, on Anderson street. An extra freight engine and caboose crashed into an electric car containing a number of passengers, hurling it fifty feet, demolishing it and throwing its occupants in every direction. Motorman John Nuding was unable to stop his car, as the brakes would not set. The injured are:

Chris Hines, skull fatally crushed.
Motorman John Nuding, back hurt.
Mrs. Bright, arms bruised.
Thomas Bright, spine injured.
Two unknown, badly injured in chest and head.

Three persons, in attempting to jump off the trolley car, were dragged under the car until the engine stopped, but were not seriously injured. It is thought all the injured persons will recover except Hines. The damage to the street railway company is estimated at $2,000.

SATOLLI'S SECOND STEP.

Elaborate and Imposing Ceremony at Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 6.—The second step in the elaborate ceremony of elevating Francis Satolli, archbishop of Lepanto and apostolic delegate to the United States, to the rank of cardinal, prince of the church, took place in the venerable cathedral here yesterday. The ceremony consisted of conferring the berretta, which is the cap worn by priests on ordinary occasions and differing only in the case of cardinals in that it is red. The preceding steps have been the conferring of the zuchetta, or red skull cap, and the administering of the oath. The remaining step is the conferring of the red hat, which must be done in Rome, by the pope himself, within six months from Nov. 30, the day upon which Satolli's appointment was made.

Fatal Fire at Wheaton, Ill.

A Patron of Music.

The Emperor William's interest in music was (a Berlin correspondent says) lately shown in a very practical way. The other day, when he was shooting in the forests of Letzlingen, the band of the Uhlans played selections during the dinner. The emperor, with his suite, went up to the musicians and made some observations about the way in which an Italian popular song, "Funicull Funicula," had been played, saying that it should have been taken quicker. Thereupon the emperor took the baton, and under his conductorship the song had to be repeated. He further conducted some military marches. Five songs by Count Philip Von Eulenburg, the German ambassador in Vienna, pleased the emperor so much that all had to be repeated.

Got the Letter.

There is a beneficent institution in Newark, N. J., known as the Female Charitable society. The name of the superintendent is Miss Merry. A short time ago a woman who wished to take some of the children sent out by the society for two weeks in the country, addressed a letter in good faith to the superintendent as follows: "Miss Mary Feamale Charitable Society, Newark, N. J."

A Novel Idea.

The Omaha Weekly World-Herald has struck another novel idea for increasing its circulation by offering large prizes to those new subscribers who construct the shortest sentence containing all the letters of the alphabet.

This is sort of reverse of last year's prize contest, when the object was to construct the largest number of words out of certain letters.

It will be interesting to note how short a sentence can be made and still contain all the twenty-six letters in the alphabet. The trouble, of course, will be to get in such letters as x, y, z and q.

Ex-Congressman Bryan, who edits the paper and preaches free silver coinage, must have a good inventive genius to devise these novel schemes.

Mrs. Thomas Daws, aged 78 years, was found dead in her bed at Lena.

Wife Murderer Sherflebarger is located in the hills near Marion. He will be caught.

Edward Rogers, 16 years old, son of T. M. Rogers, was drowned while skating at Quincy.

The 8-year-old son of Mrs. M. Cleveland accidentally killed himself with a revolver at Lincoln.

Dr. Nash, the new president of Lombard University, at Galesburg, has taken charge of that institution.

Larson Berg, a brakeman on the Illinois Central, fell between the cars and was instantly killed at Fort Dodge, Ia.

In a speech before the State Grange last Tuesday Governor Altgeld advised the farmers to organize as workers as all other lines of effort are doing.

The remains of Iver Lagerson, who strayed away from Big Grove, Kendall county, June 30 last, were found in the woods. It is supposed he committed suicide.

Dan H. Paddock, of Kankakee, is understood to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general under the auspices of the Tanner-Lorimer Cook county combination.

Governor Altgeld has accepted the resignation of George P. Bunker, of Chicago, as chief grain inspector of Illinois, and appointed Dwight W. Andrews, of Centralia, to the position.

Relatives of John Ford, who was said to have hanged himself in the police station at Springfield, believe he was murdered by the policemen of that place. Another prisoner in the station said that when Ford was found dead he was lying on the floor and not hanging, as reported. Bruises on his head support the claim of murder, and the case will be investigated.

The general assembly at its last session passed a law for the inpection of coal mines, which requires the operators of each mine inspected to pay into the treasury the expenses of each inspection, and Secretary Schilling, of the bureau of labor statistics, has made up the following schedule for these inspections: For each mine employing one to fifty men, a fee of $6; from fifty to 150 men, $8, and 150 men or over, a fee of $10. This amount goes into the state treasury, credited to the bureau of labor. The inspectors are paid a salary of $1,800 and no expenses.

There have been rumors of mismanagement at the Elgin Hospital for the Insane and the Governor is investigating. A Miss Kums, of Rockford, whose brother was taken to the asylum two weeks ago, has just visited the institution, and makes serious charges against the management of the brutal treatment of her brother, claiming that he was kept strapped in a chair at night with little covering over him. The matter has been reported to the State Board of Charities and will be investigated by that body. As usual, however, the Governor is anticipating the action of the board, and will probably have the matter sifted to the bottom and proper action taken before the board has a meeting.

Chicago university is again the recipient of a million dollar gift, the benefactor being Miss Helen Culver, a Chicago lady, rather well advanced in life. By the terms of the last Rockefeller donations, made only a short time ago, the university will really get $2,000,000 through Miss Culver's generosity, as Mr. Rockefeller stipulated that he would at any time duplicate any donation that the university might receive. Miss Culver is a niece of Charles J. Hull, a famous philanthropist, who established Hull House, the well known charitable institution on the west side, Chicago. Miss Culver says that her gift is made in memory of Mr. Hull, and requests that any buildings erected in consequence of her bequest shall bear his name.

Wednesday's Quincy Herald announced that "little Ruth Cleveland, the daughter of the President, is supposed to be at Kirksville, under the care of Dr. Still, the head of the institution of osteopathy. It was stated in the Herald some time ago that she was expected. The President wanted Dr. Still to go to Washington or Gray Gables, but he could not, and so Mohamet came to the mountain. Friday a special came into Kirksville on the Wabash. There was a handsome officials' car and the principal occupant was a little girl about 5 years of age, who wore a heavy veil in spite of her youth and had no less than six nurses or female attendants aboard the car. "The party is now elegantly lodged at Kirksville. Their identity is kept a secret, but there is no doubt that the girl is Ruth Cleveland, who is being treated by the famous bone doctor for imperfect circulation in the head and neck, and threatening softening of the brain."

Noah Lyerla, 14 years old, climbed an electric light pole in Jonesboro, near Anna, the other evening, and grasped a live wire charged with an alternating electric current. He fell to the ground dead. The incident is chiefly remarkable in that it is liable to occur almost any time in any city in the state under the present law governing electric companies.

Considerable interest has been awakened in Aurora by the cures of an evangelist named Whitehead, hailing from Chicago. Among others by prayer he has cured a woman whose right arm has been crippled for thirteen years.

A court decision of great importance to railroads and their patrons who ship in car lots has been filed at Marion in the Circuit Court by Judge O. A. Harker, of the Appellate Court. The judgment was for $284 against the Chicago, Paducah & Memphis Railroad in favor of the Egyptian Coal Company. The amount claimed was for overcharges on coal shipped in car lots and excessive charges for switching coal in car lots, the railroad company having charged five dollars per car on a switching distance of less than three miles, while the rate fixed by law is but two dollars per car. The decision involves a number of cases and lays down an important principle as to litigation involving freight charges.

It appears probable that the Chicago College of Pharmacy will become annexed to the University of Illinois. The representatives of the college of pharmacy have had a conference with the board of trustees of the university, and are well pleased with its results. The understanding is that the offer is to turn over their entire institution and equipment, valued at $25,000, if the university will assume entire control. The university trustees have appointed a committee to investigate, consisting of President Draper and Trustees Julia Holmes Smith and J. E. Armstrong, of Chicago. This purchase was contemplated by the members of the General Assembly and a bill appropriating the necessary funds was passed.

Jacob Christmann, commander of the Ottawa Post of the Grand Army, and a prominent and highly respected citizen, is under bonds to appear before the Federal Grand Jury at Chicago to answer to the charge of washing and using canceled postage stamps. It is said that he has thus been defrauding the Government for several months and that he had been warned three times by Government representatives before the ax fell. He has for many years been connected with the tailoring and clothing business and is a leader among the Germans of the city and county, being high in the councils of the Turnverein. His friends are loath to believe him guilty and hope that his statement that the washed stamps were on envelopes sent to him enclosed for remittance may prove true.

The matter of terminal stock yards charges is becoming a very serious one among the railroads running into Chicago. The Chicago Live Stock Exchange has now filed with the railroad and warehouse commissioners complaints against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; Chicago & Northwestern; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads, in which the railroads are charged with extortionate terminal charges in handling cars carried by them for the Union Stock Yards at Chicago. The complaints are the outcome of the complaint brought against the Chicago & Alton last month in which the commission found the charges of extortion in terminal charges were correct, and rendered a decision that these charges were illegal. The road took an appeal to the supreme circuit court.

The Montgomery County Circuit Court has just decided a case of great importance to the smaller cities and towns of the State. The case was brought by the people of Hillsboro to compel the "Big Four" Railroad Company to stop its fast through train, known as the "Knickerbocker Special" at the depot in Hillsboro long enough to receive and let off passengers with safety. The defense of the company was that the travel to and from Hillsboro was sufficiently accommodated by other trains, and that as the regulation and control of interstate commerce is vested exclusively in Congress by the constitution of the United States, and the "Knickerbocker Special" was a train devoted exclusively to interstate passenger traffic, no tickets being sold for or passenger received on it from points in Illinois to other points in Illinois, the State of Illinois had no power to pass and enforce a law requiring it to stop at county seats. The defense, the court holds, to be insufficient, and a peremptory mandamus was ordered to be issued. The company will appeal the case to the Appellate Court. The progress of the case has been watched with interest by the residents of a number of county seats and other towns throughout the State, and in case Hillsboro wins, similar actions against other roads will be commenced.

Rockford Swedish Americans are making extensive arrangements for the meeting of the Swedish-American Republican League of Illinois, to be held in that city March 11 and 12 next, when it is expected that 500 delegates will be present. Speakers of national prominence will be in attendance, and the meeting will close with a banquet at the Hotel Nelson.

CAUSED BY VACCINATION.

From the Journal, Detroit, Mich.

Every one in the vicinity of Meldrum avenue and Champlain street, Detroit, knows Mrs. McDonald, and many a neighbor has reason to feel grateful to her for the kind and friendly interest she has manifested in cases of illness.

She is a kind-hearted friend, a natural nurse, and an intelligent and refined lady.

To a reporter she recently talked at some length about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, giving some very interesting instances in her own immediate knowledge of marvelous cures, and the universal beneficence of the remedy to those who had used it.

"I have reason to know," said Mrs. McDonald, "something of the worth of this medicine, for it has been demonstrated in my own immediate family. My daughter Kittie is attending high school, and has never been very strong since she began. I suppose she studies hard, and she has quite a distance to go every day. When the small-pox broke out all of the school children had to be vaccinated. I took her over to Dr. Jameson and he vaccinated her. I never saw such an arm in my life and the doctor said he never did. She was broken out on her shoulders and back and was just as sick as she could be. To add to it all neuralgia set in, and the poor child was in misery. She is naturally of a nervous temperament and she suffered most awfully. Even after she recovered the neuralgia did not leave her. Stormy days or days that were damp or preceded a storm, she could not go out at all. She was pale and thin, and had no appetite.

"I have forgotten just who told me about the Pink Pills, but I got some for her and they cured her right up. She has a nice color in her face, eats and sleeps well, goes to school every day, and is well and strong in every particular. I have never heard of anything to build up the blood to compare with Pink Pills. I shall always keep them in the house and recommend them to my neighbors."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are considered an unfailing specific in such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

What Did He Start With?

A certain tippler recently went to the landlord of a hotel where he was known and said: "If you lend me as much money as I have on me I shall spend sixpence with you." The landlord lent him as requested and the tippler had his sixpence worth of liquor, then went to a second hotelkeeper with the same request and obtained a loan, and consequently his sixpence worth. The operation was repeated at a third hotel and after getting his sixpence worth there he had nothing left. Can any reader tell how much money the tippler started with and how much each hotelkeeper?—London Telegraph.

Comes to stay

There is more than one food which will cause the body to increase in weight. A free supply of sugar will do this; so will the starchy foods; cream, and some other fats. But to become fleshy, and yet remain in poor health, is not what you want. Cod-liver oil increases the weight because it is a fat-producing food. But it does far more than this. It alters, or changes, the processes of nutrition, restoring the normal functions of the various organs and tissues.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with hypophosphites, is pure cod-liver in a digested condition. So that, when a person gains in weight from taking Scott's Emulsion, it is because of two things: First, the oil has acted as a fat-producing food; and, second, it has restored to the body a healthy condition. Such an improvement is permanent: it comes to stay.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

TWENTY-FIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Lewin, of Russell, Celebrate their Silver Wedding.

One of the most enjoyable events that has ever taken place around Russell, Ill., was the gathering of relatives and friends at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Lewin, on the evening of Jan. 4, 1896, being the anniversary of their twenty-fifth or Silver Wedding.

The bride and groom were as smiling as they were when the knot was tied twenty-five years before. Hand shaking was in order on the arrival of the guests and on their departure for home. Owing to the number of friends congregated, and lack of room for all purposes, the Dr. (being an old soldier) and his hosts, charged and took possession of the Baptist Church, which surrendered unconditionally, and where was spread in the basement an elegant repast. The bride wore on her head the same wreath of white flowers that she wore twenty-five years before. Among those present were:

REV. AND DEAR SIR:

After listening to your able and eloquent discourse on the Model Husband, I have concluded that after thirty years of single blessedness I would like to claim such a one for my very own; but after carefully studying over the characteristics of my different gentleman friends I am reluctantly forced to admit that he does not live among them. Please tell me where I can find such a one, and oblige

BIG FIRE AT DUNNING.

Laundry of the Cook County Insane Asylum Burns.

The laundry building of the Dunning insane asylum was destroyed by fire about midnight Friday night, entailing a loss of from $10,000 to $15,000.

All of the employes of the asylum, to the number of eighty-five, made a heroic effort to save the building, and an engine from the city department was soon on the spot, but nothing could stay the progress of the flames.

The laundry building was a two-story brick, 125x50 feet, located about 250 feet from the main wing of the insane asylum, where between 1,200 and 1,300 patients are confined. The ward where the violent patients are confined is so located that the patients could plainly see the fire. The attendants, however, say nearly all of the patients in the asylum were asleep during the fire, and very few were awakened, consequently, no panic ensued.

Obituary.

In the death of Michael Graham, which occurred on Wednesday, Dec. 18th, at his home at Long Lake, Lake County loses one of its oldest and most respected citizens.

Mr. Graham was born in the year 1808, in the County Galway, Ireland, which left him at the time of his death, 87 years of age. At the early age of nineteen years he emigrated to this country and settled in Vermont, where he resided a number of years, after which he removed to Chicago and became connected with the Illinois Central Railroad, and remained in that company's service for nineteen years. Oct. 8, 1859, he was married to Miss Julia Doyle, of Chicago who still survives him. In the spring of 1866, becoming tired of city life, he purchased a farm in the town of Grant, on the bank of Long Lake, and has resided here continuously ever since, with the exception of two years spent in Chicago. On Nov. 3 he with his wife and daughter was attending a funeral in Chicago, when he received a severe stroke of paralysis, his right side being entirely paralyzed. All that medical skill and loving hands could do to alleviate his sufferings was done, but to no avail. He never recovered from the terrible disease. Sunday, Dec. 15, 1895, he received another shock, his whole body became paralyzed, and he was rendered unconscious and remained so for three days, when he died, surrounded by his family and intimate friends. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, two sons, Edward and Thomas J., three daughters, Annie, Lillie and Mrs. Robert O'Boyle, and three grandchildren, all of whom were at his bedside at the time of his death; also a brother, two sisters, a large number of nephews, nieces and other relatives and friends.

For twelve years he was a patient and came it was the universal verdict of all that he had lived a noble and virtuous life, and died a happy death. He was always a kind and loving husband, a fond and indulgent father, always ready and willing to do an act of kindness to those in trouble and to help the sick and the afflicted, and for these and many other virtues, he carried with him to the grave the utmost respect and confidence of all who had known him in life. Although his presence in the family circle will be seen no more, his arm-chair that he occupied for so many years will be vacant, and he will be missed by all, still we know that he is happy with the angels, and that he has obtained his just reward, the kingdom and glory of Heaven. In spite of the almost impassable condition of the roads, and the inclemency of the weather, his funeral Saturday morning, Dec. 21, was largely attended, and after appropriate services by the Rev. Father O'Neil, his remains were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery in McHenry.*

ANTIOCH W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT.

In Charge of the Corresponding Secretary.

A MODERN IDOL

Must the beautiful Goddess of Liberty bow
Low down at the feet of the idol, Rum;
Relinquish her laurels, allegiance vow,
While her once devoted subjects sit dumb?

In these days of superior (?) wisdom we smile
At the ancients who worshiped a calf made of gold,
Yet we do more foolish observance the while
We condemn so severely those worshipers old.

The idol they worshiped was harmless at least,
While we in this highly progressive time,
Bow in humble allegiance unto a beast
That is ringstreaked, speckled and spotted with crime.

It's cloven foot treads on the neck of the poor;
It's strong paw seizes the bread from their hands.
With it's monstrous horns it breaks through the door,
Then within the poor hovel, sole monarch it stands.

It transforms the fond father into a fiend;
The loved husband into a maniac wild,
And the arm on which they once trustingly leaned
Remorselessly murders companion and child.

The Habits of Children.

Should be closely watched and regulated by mothers. Carelessness in childhood often leads to serious trubles in after life. The digestive organs and bowels should be kept in the best possible condition to insure good health, not only for the present, but for years to come. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a harmless but potent remedy, corrects all such evils in children. Twenty doses (for children) 10c, at W. H. Emmons'

For Hoarseness.

Benj. Ingerson, of Hutton, Ind., says he had not spoken above a whisper for months and one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar restored his voice. It is used very largely by speakers and singers. W. H. Emmons.

The Historic Route

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18 to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car services from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous "Dixie Flyer" through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. A True Saying.

It has been said that habitual constipation is the cause of fully one-half the diseases that flesh is heir to. Keep your bowels regulated by Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and your system will be in proper condition to keep off diseases of all kinds. Get a sample bottle (10 doses 10 cents) of W. H. Emmons, and you will bless the day you did.

HOW TO CLEAN CURTAINS.

Points on Rubbing, Wringing, Drying and Ironing.

As soon as the curtains are down they should be shaken to remove all loose dust and dirt, after which hooks or other fastenings should be removed, any tacking threads carefully picked out, and should silk or any other trimmings be fastened on them they should be removed also, as in washing it is desirable that each kind of fabric should be separately treated.

Great care should be taken where there are iron mold or rust stains to remove them with oxalic acid before wetting the articles. Mildew should also be cleaned out before washing, if it exists.

The curtains, being ready, should be placed in cold soft water to soak for some 10 or 12 hours, and then, after a little sluicing about, should be squeezed out and placed in a fresh lot of water for some hours, repeating the process until no further dirt can be extracted, after which the article should be thoroughly washed in warm water with plenty of soap, sluicing rather than rubbing them, as this latter operation would tend to loosen the threads.

In some cases it adds to the appearance of the goods to boil them, and for this purpose they should be placed loosely in a coarse white linen bag, as with this there is no danger of tearing or other injury. After being boiled for, say, half an hour the bag should be lifted from the copper, and after draining the curtains should be placed in a tub of clean lukewarm water and be well sluiced about and squeezed out eventually, repeating the process at least twice, after which they should be quite free from soap.

They should then be passed through water blued with some good blue to counteract any tendency to yellowness and afterward dried, choosing a bright, sunny place out of doors for the purpose where practicable.

How to Make German Puff Paste.

To a pound of fine flour take three-quarters of a pound of butter, which has been well washed and kneaded with the hands and left to soak in fresh water a couple of hours before being required. Heap up the flour on the pastry board, make a hole in the middle, put in a bit of butter, an egg, a pinch of salt and a liquor glass of brandy. Knead all well together and mix with sufficient cold water to make a paste stiff enough to roll easily without sticking on the board. Roll out, taking care always to use the rolling pin from and not toward the person employed. Squeeze the remainder of the water well through a clean cloth, and divide the paste into four parts. Roll out each part to the thickness of an inch, always flouring the board. Lay a portion of the butter in small pieces on each roll of paste, knead well, roll out. Continue adding butter and kneading together. Again divide in four portions and roll out thin, spreading with butter. Knead together and roll out for last time. A cool place is absolutely necessary for making puff paste, and the thinner the paste is rolled out each time the better.

How to Make a Tent For Baby.

A fanciful tent for the baby may stand in the veranda. It is made of four bamboo sticks firmly fastened together and arranged so as to hold a small spring bed and a mattress, the sides of which are concealed from view by ticking. The tent at the top is made of the same material. The sides are protected by fish netting, and turkey red bows and rosettes give a gay look to the little affair. As this is an outdoor lounging conch delicate materials would not be appropriate, but such a safe resting place would, if properly made, be found very useful.

How to Keep Curtains In Place.

To prevent light curtains from flying out of the open windows or across the room sew small weights in the hems at the bottom of the draperies.
